

Join us for the first tour of our PNWCA farmer trial at Kopf Farms near Pullman (<https://goo.gl/maps/BQF7Fr16r6j8rUFk7>). We have 13 different TruFlex spring canola hybrids from 8 seed companies in the trial. There will be brief presentations including:

- Cultivar-specific information
 - BASF - Matt Renfrow, Moscow, ID
 - BrettYoung – Justin Barbot, ND (invited)
 - Canterra Seeds - Jamie Rovie (Hefty Seed, Farmington, WA)
 - DeKalb – Cora Chandler, Boise, ID (Helena Agribusiness)
 - Nutrien Ag Solutions – Walter Bryant, Ellensburg, WA
 - Nuseed – Brian Morse, Great Falls, MT
 - Wilbur-Ellis – Tim Watts, Tri-Cities, WA
 - Winfield United – Beau Blachly, Pomeroy, WA and Nathan Groth, Moscow
- Storage and handling of canola – Hallie Jamison, Columbia Grain
- Marketing and processing – Daniel Stenbakken, Viterra
- Herbicide studies with Italian ryegrass - Mark Thorne, WSU
- Weed control and herbicide resistance - Joan Campbell, UI
- Canola pests and beneficial insects - Jim Davis, UI
- WSU-WOCS update - Isaac Madsen, WSU

 Please note 4-WD will be required to reach the trial if the field road is still wet – if so we will provide a ride up the hill or it's a refreshing walk!

 If you are not able to make the tour and are interested in viewing the plots at another date/time, please contact us to make arrangements to do so. Field access is by permission only outside of tour times.

RSVPs are appreciated to pnwcanola@gmail.com.

Many thanks to Keith & Heidi Kopf for hosting this trial, and for their time planning, seeding, spraying, and taking photos/notes! Thanks also to the seed companies who provided seed, and all of the presenters.